HONORS SYMPOSIUM

Top undergraduate students gain access to cutting-edge Israel studies scholarship, insiders’ understanding of graduate work, and strategic advice on pursuing an academic career.

SELECTIVE PROGRAM FOR UNDERGRADS

This prestigious three-day program includes opportunities to meet leading Israel studies researchers in small group settings, take part in stimulating seminars and group activities, and learn about top graduate programs all while networking with other outstanding students interested in the study of modern Israel.

The next Honors Symposium will take place January 8-10, 2020, near New York City.

▼ REQUIREMENTS

The Honors Symposium is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors attending universities in the United States who are interested in graduate work related to modern Israel.

▼ NEXT STEPS

To learn more and to apply, please visit: israelinstitute.org/applyhs.

Deadline: October 17, 2019

▼ CONTACT

For more information, please contact Dr. Ilai Saltzman, Associate Director of Academic Programs, at isaltzman@israelinstitute.org.

Seeing the transformation of participants during the symposium is remarkable. Students come out with a better understanding of Israel studies and a keen interest in leading the field.

DR. ILAI SALTZMAN
Israel Institute