

HONORS RESEARCH SEMINAR ABROAD

Immigration and Cultural Diversity

in ISRAEL

For 1st & 2nd year Honors College Students & Jewish Studies Minor Students

Fall Semester (at MSU)
Oct. 13 - Dec. 1, 2020
Tuesdays 5 - 6:50 PM
Eustace-Cole Hall, Room 208

Winter Break (in Israel)
Dec. 20- Jan.6, 2020-21

Spring Semester (at MSU)
Jan. 15 - Mar. 2, 2021
Tuesdays 5 - 6:50 PM
Eustace-Cole Hall, Room 208

DESCRIPTION: This Honors College Seminar Abroad will introduce first and second year students to research through the lens of immigration and cultural diversity in Israel. Immigration, cultural diversity, and inter-cultural relationships present important issues for many countries in the world. Israel, a state which encourages immigration, and therefore is very culturally diverse, is a great site for investigating these issues. Students participating in the program will engage in weekly research seminars during the fall, a 15 day field research experience in Israel during winter break, and weekly research seminars during the spring. Students will present the results of their research projects at the University Undergraduate Research and Arts Forum (UURAF).

To enroll email Dr. Janka at kristin@msu.edu . The deadline to submit applications is September 16, 2020.

COURSES: You will be enrolled in the following two courses

Honors College Students

- UGS 200H (3 credits) – counts as one H experience
- JS 390 (4 credits) – counts as a University Integrative Studies substitution

Jewish Studies Minor Students

- JS 399 (3 credits) – counts towards the Jewish Studies Minor
- JS 390 (4 credits) – counts towards the Jewish Studies Minor

ESTIMATED COSTS:

$1,825 – program fee (not including tuition)

$3,000 – out of pocket expenses (airfare, food, passport, visas etc.)

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

Dr. Yore Kedem (faculty program leader) at ykedem@msu.edu

APPLICATION AVAILABLE AT:

<https://honorscollege.msu.edu/programs/Israel-Application-Form.pdf>

Partial scholarships are available. Each approved applicant will receive a $1,000 Scholarship to be applied to the program fee, from the Michael and Elaine Serling Institute for Jewish Studies and Modern Israel